BROOKLYN BREAKS SPELL

Robbin Succeeded Finally in Winning From New York Giants.

New York, July 2. — Larry Vance held the Giants to five hits today and broke the New York spell over Brooklyn with a 4 to 1 victory. Fournier made the lone home run of the season and DeBerry and Wilson also hit homers. Wilson's came in with two out in the ninth and allowed the Giants to retain their record of not being shut out this season. It was the fourth Robbin win over New York in 17 games. Frisch was spiked and forced to retire.

TURN BACK TO BALL

RATHER THAN BACK-UP

What is the proper way for an outfielder to go back after fly balls?

Answered by

ED ROUSH

Fletcher, Cincinnati National, one of the greatest hitters and outfielders in the game today.

The illustration makes this clearer than telling about it. The reason for using the method shown, however, is that it gives so much greater speed and it gives more "foot-sureness" to the outfielder. Running backward after a fly ball is a clumsy way of getting about for the ordinary outfielder although this speaker can do it to perfection. At first it will be a little difficult to judge balls when running back after them as shown, but a little practice will overcome this difficulty.

GIANTS AGAIN VICTORIOUS

Walsh Leads Oneonta Team to 4-3 Victory over Tannersville at Mountain Village Yesterday — There Again Today.

With a rush in the eighth inning, Oneonta took the game with Tannersville at the latter village yesterday afternoon by a score of 4-3. Walsh pitched a fine game, holding the Tannersville scoreless after the first inning and his support was excellent. The two teams will play today at Tannersville and a thrilling contest is promised. Scanlon will pitch for Oneonta and Deitzen, a name familiar to Oneonta-Unionville fans, will take the mound for Tannersville.

The Tannersville team got off to a flying start when they scored four of her seven hits in the first inning and scored three times. Porter, the first man up, singled was sacrificed to second by Green, and after Shannon flied out to Roilan, scored on Foley's double. This hit was followed by Kelley's single and Patterson's triple in rapid succession, and the three runs were across the rubber. McCarthy ended the inning when he grounded out.

Tannersville never crossed the plate again, held in perfect control by Walsh who was invincible.

The three run lead however looked big, since Schwartz was working very well. In the fourth Harner scored after singling on Sinstack's double.

The big blow off came in the eighth. Fletcher opened with a single, his third of the game, and Faye followed with a single, also his third hit of the game. Harner, the next man up was expected to sacrifice, but Tannersville was double crossed and he sent the ball into right for a double. Faye stopping at third.

Wilson fanned, but Thomas crashed through with a hit and the game was won, for Walsh was feeding them poison.

No Break Yet in Deadlock Despite Fervent Plea of Bryan in Behalf of W. G. McAdoo

Former Democratic Standard Bearer Urges Candidacy of Leading Aspirant Amid Hoots and Boos from Galleries and Floor—Bryan Heckled Frequently Concerning McAdoo's Connection With "Oil."

Effect of Speech Uncertain

General Agreement That If Anything Address of Bryan Solidified Smith Forces—Missouri and Oklahoma Switch to McAdoo During Day But How Long They Will Stick is Matter of Question.

Madison Square Garden, New York, July 2.—Still reeling under the effects of the bombardment and counter attack which swept the Democratic national convention late this afternoon when William Jennings Bryan took the platform for William G. McAdoo and was put under a cross fire of questions respecting McAdoo's connections with "oil" and tax refunds from the government to corporations, the convention assembled at 8 o'clock tonight for the 39th ballot.

The effect of Bryan's move and the storm which accompanied it was the sole topic of discussion among the leaders when the convention assembled. Who had been benefitted and who had been hurt were the great questions. There was an agreement on all sides that if anything had been necessary to solidify the Smith people it was Bryan's reference to the necessity for a candidate whose position was right "on the liquor question." It was obvious that Bryan had brought to the floor of the convention a subject which the McAdoo forces had no relish for throwing into open debate, the oil question and the tax refund cases.

The Ralston people were anxiously looking about to estimate how their candidate had fared under Bryan's open endorsement.

Senator Walsh of Montana, declared supporter of McAdoo, had given away in the chair for the night session to Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, a declared supporter of Smith, so that he was left in a position of embarrassment of clearing the galleries of Smith rooters if they became so noisy as to interrupt the proceedings as they had done at the afternoon session when they snored Bryan down under a cloudburst of towels, cat calls and uncomplimentary epithets.

Number of Ballots Near Record.
Slowly the record of ballots was climbing toward the records made at Baltimore and San Francisco, where it took 46 and 44, respectively, to find a nominee. If no nomination was made tonight the record was in a fair way to be broken. At 8:15 o'clock Chairman Walsh began calling for order, silenced the band, saved delegates and alternates to their seats, shook his head at the galleries to give order and announced that Dr. Frederick Knubell of the United Lutheran churches would lead in prayer.

The New York state police also clubbed some snorers. Evidently the convention managers felt that some music was needed to soothe the savage breast of the convention.
No chances were being taken, however, on the effectiveness of the music. Enough cops to compose ten gladiators marched around the hall looking for trouble.
The Trumpets sang "Annie Laurie," "The Soldiers' Chorus," from Faust, and the "Sister" from Lucia, with rendition and tone. The plan of the delegates was to let the delegates to the floor to vote, and to spend their money as they pleased.
The policemen closed their eyes and turned their backs to the delegates, who were singing "Annie Laurie," declared Senator Walsh. The roll call will be for the 39th ballot.
The roll call was without change until Vermont was reached, when the McAdoo vote there was taken and came for Mayor Jackson of Burlington, Vt.

Missouri Returns to McAdoo.
Missouri went back to McAdoo and the McAdoo contingent all over the hall began welcoming the prodigal, while the anti-McAdoo in the delegation gave notice through the din that they were going to challenge the anti-McAdoo.
While McAdoo's turn was being celebrated, Oklahoma's roll showed a return to McAdoo.
During the parade Senator Walsh of Montana, relieved Senator Walsh of Massachusetts of the celebrated chair with the rising head. The perambulator and the chair were then taken back to the white-robed delegates.
Bryan started the "We Want Smith" chant and immediately it was taken from all corners of the Garden. It rumbled the McAdoo delegation as far as noise was concerned.

John Keegan of St. Louis, declared of the roll of the Missouri delegation when he finally could make himself heard and he demanded was provided for Frank H. Harris of Roila, Miss., a McAdoo man.
The Missouri delegation soon was Virginia in its announcement of the roll, one fair Missouri member announcing her vote, "John er's platform to call the vote on the 41st ballot.

While this was in progress McAdoo once more took up his headquarters in his hotel across the street from the convention hall and began a series of conferences with his floor leaders. There was talk of pressure to bring Virginia and Arkansas over to the McAdoo rising tide. South Dakota gave McAdoo nine and one to Thomas J. Spallacy of Connecticut.

Anti-McAdoo folks were at work and conferring also. Thomas Taggart of Indiana visited the Missouri delegation to find out how long it was going to stay with the McAdoo standard.

In many McAdoo groups the availability of additional Smith votes was freely admitted but at the same time it was apparent that great care was being exercised to prevent a too rapid development of maximum strength. That this eventuality was receiving thoughtful consideration in the Smith camp also was admitted.

On the 41st ballot the leaders stood:

McAdoo 504.3; Smith 317.6; Davis 70. On this ballot McAdoo lost six-tenths of a vote and Smith gained one-tenth. Davis lost half a vote.

Deadlock Tightens.
The changes emphasized the equal balance of the struggle and how tight the deadlock had become.

With the announcement of the figures for the 41st ballot the clerk went back to calling the roll again—this time made 42. There was talk of a situation in the Oklahoma delegation not being entirely settled about staying with McAdoo.

The leaders stood this way at the conclusion of the 42nd ballot: McAdoo 503.4; Smith 318.6; Davis 67.

This was a loss of one and one-half for McAdoo while Smith gained one. Davis lost three.

Plans were made for adjournment after the official announcement of the 42nd ballot.

Following is the result of the 42nd ballot: McAdoo 503.4; Smith 318.6; Davis 67.

W. Davis, the man who can save us.

The 39th ballot in the Democratic convention tonight showed these totals among the leaders:

McAdoo, 499; Smith, 320.4; Davis, 71.

McAdoo gained 5.5; Smith lost a half vote and Davis of West Virginia lost 2.5 votes.

The McAdoo people and the majority of the Missouri delegation in the room. The result was 19.4 for McAdoo, 15 for Davis. Under the unit rule it went to McAdoo.

Oklahoma, on its roll, went to McAdoo without roll call. Arizona changed her vote before the roll call was concluded, and that added a half vote to McAdoo, bringing him to 499—within one vote of that coveted 500 which his adherents had been working so hard to get.

On the 40th ballot Connecticut announced a vote involving a loss for Smith and a gain for McAdoo; there was a protest and the state was passed for a poll at the end of the roll call.

Mean Trick on Woman.
A California matron who had been having a collection of little flags at every mention of McAdoo suddenly discovered that some wag had slipped a Smith banner on the top of the staff and that she had been waving an emblem for the New York governor. Immediately she indignantly tore off the Smith streamer and tore it into tiny bits.

At the conclusion of the roll the clerk went back to Connecticut, where the poll had been demanded.

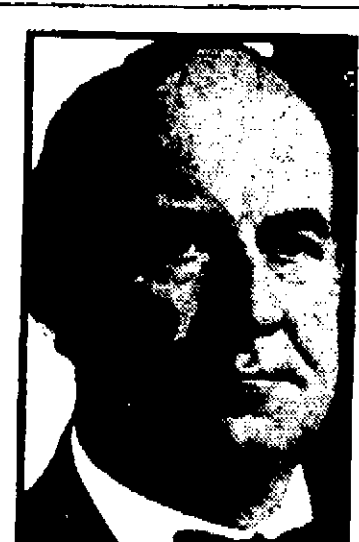

The poll of the Connecticut delegation resulted Smith 19; McAdoo 49. On the 40th ballot the totals for the leaders stood:

McAdoo 505.5; Smith 317.5; Davis 70.5.

The passing of the 500 mark was attained in a great drive toward getting a majority with rumbles and a fight on the two-thirds rule in the morning.

Missouri and Oklahoma had been induced to come to the McAdoo column for a few ballots at least and see what the McAdoo floor managers could do with the advantage of their moral support.

The McAdoo partisans, eager to recover from the reactions that might be developing against them as a result of the Bryan harangue, during the afternoon session, left no stone unturned to drive over the 500 mark and toward the majority. They interrupted the announcement of the official vote of the 40th ballot with a demonstration which was only quelled after repeated efforts.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

The Great Commoner made a fervid plea for McAdoo yesterday, starting a demonstration of both approval and protest.

GREATEST FEDERAL SURPLUS REPORTED

Government Ends Fiscal Year With Big Surplus and Reduction in Debt

Washington, July 2.—Official figures made public by the treasury tonight showed that the government ended the fiscal year June 30 with a surplus of $20,356,986.31, the greatest ever piled up. At the same time the national debt was cut $1,098,891,376.87 to $21,250,812,938.

The reduction was accomplished by use of the entire surplus and $457,999,750, which was accumulated through application of the sinking fund and other public debt charges against receipts together with $135,527,623 from the general fund. The balance in the general fund with which the new fiscal year was started was $235,411,481. Through the payers have been relieved in one year of an annual interest charge of $25,000,000.

Custom duties, although smaller by $10,000,000 than were estimated a year ago, added $145,837,507 to the government income. Receipts from the import duties, therefore, were about $15,000,000 below those from the same source in the year ending June 30, 1923. Internal revenue payments after deducting the 25 per cent credit allowed in the new tax law aggregated $2,795,157,056, or more than $10,000,000 above last summer's estimate.

Among articles freed entirely of the tax levied under the old law are: Pleasure boats and canoes, candy, hunting and bowie knives, dirk knives, daggers, sword canes, attache cases, brass and metallic knuckles, smoking stands, liveries and liver boots and hats, hunting and shooting garments, riding habits, yachts and motor boats not designed for trade, fishing or national defense, and x-ray films and plates.

Another cut to become effective is that from two cents to one cent per $100 in the stamp tax on sales of produce in boards of trade and similar trading marts.

UNIT RULE EXPLAINED; ITS APPLICATION LIMITED

The unit rule, regarded with so much disfavor in certain cases, is merely a means of giving the full vote of a delegation to the candidate favored by the majority. It disregards the minority vote in any delegation bound thereby. Since 1920 it may be applied only in states where delegates are still named by a state convention which instructs them how to vote.

The rule does not apply in states that by statute provide for the election of delegates by congressional districts and do not subject such delegates to the authority of the state committee or convention of the party.

TAX CUTS TAKE EFFECT TODAY

So-Called Nuisance Taxes Abolished Entirely Under New Revenue Law

Washington, July 2.—The public purse will have another sigh of relief at midnight tonight when further cuts in the nation's tax bill under the new revenue law become effective after the 30-day period stipulated from its enactment. The so-called nuisance taxes are abolished entirely, while in the field of miscellaneous taxes generally material reductions take effect.

Included among the old law assessments which are eliminated outright are those on telegraph and telephone messages and the stamp tax of two cents per $100 on drafts, checks and promissory notes. The tax on the theatre admissions of one cent for each ten cents charged is changed to apply only on admissions in excess of 50 cents.

The five per cent tax on jewelry articles, including musical instruments, will apply only on watches exceeding $20 in value and on watches only of a value in excess of $50.

Although the law levies a new tax of five per cent on automobile chassis and bodies and motorcycles and three per cent on truck or wagon chassis selling for more than $1,000 and bodies selling for more than $200, it compensates in a measure by cutting in half the five per cent tax on automobile parts and accessories.

Another cut to become effective is that from two cents to one cent per $100 in the stamp tax on sales of produce in boards of trade and similar trading marts.

Among articles freed entirely of the tax levied under the old law are: Pleasure boats and canoes, candy, hunting and bowie knives, dirk knives, daggers, sword canes, attache cases, brass and metallic knuckles, smoking stands, liveries and liver boots and hats, hunting and shooting garments, riding habits, yachts and motor boats not designed for trade, fishing or national defense, and x-ray films and plates.

ANDERSON'S TRIAL HELD TO BE FAIR

Supreme Court Affirms Conviction of Former Anti-Saloon League Head

New York, July 2.—The conviction of William H. Anderson, a former state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, who is serving one to two years at Sing Sing prison for third degree forgery, was unanimously affirmed today by the appellate division of the supreme court. John V. McAvoy, in an opinion in which Justices Clark, Hutchins, Dowling, Merrill and Kinch concurred, said:

"The record discloses a trial where, in scrupulous regard was had for the rights of the defendant in the admission and exclusion of evidence and in the full, clear and painstaking charge of the learned trial court."

Referring to the contention of former Governor Whitman, Anderson's lawyer, that the evidence was insufficient, the court said:

"This entry (the false notation in the books of the league) was doubtless calculated to render the books capable of showing by legal proof that Phillips (the league's solicitor of funds) did not receive his full earnings. It is vain to protest that it hurt nobody, but whether it did or not, it was a false entry."

Anderson's conviction was affirmed by the court.

BROADWAY LIMITED IS WRECKED AT LANCASTER

Lancaster, Pa., July 2.—The "Broadway Limited," one of the Pennsylvania railroad's fast passenger trains from New York to Chicago was wrecked tonight one mile east of this city, eight of the nine cars leaving the rails. Two women passengers and one member of the crew were slightly hurt.

A special train took the passengers to Harrisburg where they were picked up by the second section of the "Broadway Limited" and continued their journey after a delay of four hours.

The accident is believed to have been caused by broken trucks on the forward car. Five sleeping cars, diner, mail car and a combination parlor and baggage car left the rails and all remained upright.

The two westbound tracks were blocked for several hours after the wreck.

PLANNING TO RAISE FUNDS FOR DEVASTATED LORAIN

Lorain, Ohio, July 2.—How funds for rehabilitation of this tornado devastated city are to be raised was discussed here today by Governor Mahan and members of the state and local rehabilitation committees. The governor and the state committee then returned to Cleveland where further consideration of the proposition was given tonight.

Among the plans offered here was one for a general national appeal for funds to rebuild residence property, the owners of which are not financially able to obtain money for the purpose by reason of income tax liens now on the property and to make it possible for those who are financially able to obtain proper credit.

On the subject of the situation, when the convention adjourned tonight had not reached the stage for final decision by the leaders. It is obvious that the McAdoo campaign and the Smith strength had reached such proportions that the contest was not going to be decided in open football play, and it was more certain than ever that each side had a vote on the other. The deadlock, therefore, was becoming tighter.

BOY KILLS SISTER

Chicago, July 2.—A boy known as Herbert Holliday of Kansas City arrested today at Little Rock, Ark., for alleged complicity in Texas bank robbery, is reported of being one of two Texas ex-convicts wanted in his sister's slaying.

His sister, Mary, was slain in a robbery June 12 at Round Rock, Tex., reported inspectors announced last night.

McAdoo Runs to New High Mark and Passes Eagerly Sought Goal of 500 Votes by Much Frantic Work

Madison Square Garden, New York, July 2.—William Gibbs McAdoo ran to a new high mark in tonight's balloting in the Democratic national convention. He passed the much sought goal of 500 votes by dint of much frantic work and persuasions and maneuvering on the part of his floor managers, who declared they hadn't finished their work yet.

DAVIS SLIPPING

Prominent Dark Horse Loses to McAdoo—Continued Strength of Leaders Tightens Deadlock

Madison Square Garden, New York, July 2.—William Gibbs McAdoo ran to a new high mark in tonight's balloting in the Democratic national convention. He passed the much sought goal of 500 votes by dint of much frantic work and persuasions and maneuvering on the part of his floor managers, who declared they hadn't finished their work yet.

Running close to the 46 and 44 ball record of the Baltimore and San Francisco conventions respectively, the Madison Square Garden exhibition is near to setting a new mark. McAdoo hit his high mark so far in the 40th ballot when he polled 505.5 votes. Smith at that time dropped a little below his high level, 323.4, made on previous ballots. At the close of the 30th ballot last night McAdoo had stood at 415.4 votes. Thus he gained nearly a hundred in today's balloting and the votes he got were taken principally from John W. Davis, who fell to 70 on the last ballot tonight. The McAdoo people went into tonight's session attempting to estimate what damage had been done to their cause by the riotous performance of the late afternoon session when William Jennings Bryan precipitated a tumult with his approval of McAdoo from the platform and aroused cries of "Oil!"

At first there were various predictions of what the effect might be at the night session but when the leaders got outside and thought it over it became apparent that the principal effect of the Bryan indictment had been to solidify the Smith forces and to spur the McAdoo people on to a new effort. To pass the 500 mark tonight and to adjourn while it was held there was their first goal. They made it. To attain a majority was their next goal. Whether they can do that will be decided tomorrow.

There is the office lies a new threat of an attack on the two thirds rule after the majority has been attained. That issue remains to be clarified. There is no authentic information concerning the McAdoo plans available tonight.

Day Full of Colorful Incidents.
The day's proceedings were full of incident and color. Twelve ballots were the accomplishment of the two sessions of the day. The desertion of two votes of the New York delegation from Smith to McAdoo gave the McAdoo people all they wanted for a demonstration at the day session. The sliding of Missouri and Oklahoma to the McAdoo standard at the night session furnished a demonstration.

That the real feature of the day was Bryan, as of old, getting the platform to make a speech on pretense of explaining his vote; launching an attack on his business and organized wealth and presenting a list of candidates whom he considered available—headed by McAdoo.

The rumpus Bryan kicked up has seldom been equaled at any national convention and it probably has never been surpassed in anything short of blows and bloodshed. For half the time allotted to Bryan was shouting into a howling mob which was hurling cat calls, threats and epithets at him and heckling him with demands to explain McAdoo's connection with "oil" and his activities as an attorney during the tax refund negotiations from the treasury department.

The strategy by which the McAdoo managers picked up enough votes to pass the 500 mark was said to be a combination of what Louisiana and Missouri did in the 1920 election. The McAdoo people declared they knew there were more Smith votes on the floor to be brought out when called for and they were playing a game which would force all the Smith votes out before they brought out their own full strength.

On the subject of the situation, when the convention adjourned tonight had not reached the stage for final decision by the leaders. It is obvious that the McAdoo campaign and the Smith strength had reached such proportions that the contest was not going to be decided in open football play, and it was more certain than ever that each side had a vote on the other. The deadlock, therefore, was becoming tighter.

STRAINED IMMIGRATION.

Beginning this month, American immigration is pretty finely strangled. It may be remarked, as some of our foreign relations, but that will pass. The situation is of immediate and practical interest to a country that has made a supreme effort to maintain its national characteristics and economic advantages against the menace of multitudes of new-comers of lower quality and alien culture.

Quotas are lowered materially and the quota basis is altered so that eligible immigrants will be mostly of the stock built into the original fabric of the nation. Official entries, almost negligible in the last three years compared with the hordes that formerly poured into the country, will be further reduced. There will be greater reduction, perhaps, in the number of those stealing in by unofficial routes. Border patrols are greatly strengthened, adding new land barriers to those of the seaports.

A better entry system is established. Immigrants will have to have certificates furnished by American representatives abroad, and there are supposed to be no more certificates for any nationality than the official quota allows. As a result, there is no such rush as there has been at the beginning of previous fiscal years. Holders of certificates are admissible at any time during the year. This makes it more comfortable alike for them and for the American immigration authorities, and insures more competent inspection when they arrive.

Little by little, the new American immigration policy and method are being worked out. The system is yet far from perfect, but much progress has been made, and further improvement seems assured, without real injustice to other nations.

INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS.

The International Chamber of Commerce has voted unanimously to admit Germany. Moreover, it has done so at the suggestion of French and Belgian members.

This is an impressive victory of common sense over war prejudice. It is in line with the new attitude manifest among the allies with regard to Germany.

The allied governments are realizing now the force of what Americans have been saying all along, that no reputation can be obtained from Germany unless Germany is allowed to do business and make more than a bare living.

The international business men simply apply the same reasoning to their own private interests, acknowledging that they can make more profit out of an economically restored Germany than out of a Germany economically ruined. They realize, after thinking the matter over in the light of the last few years, that bad as it may be to have Germany selling in their own home markets, it is worse for them not to be able to sell in the German market.

This is notably true of America, which found Germany an immensely profitable customer before the war and has found small profit there since the war. But the most reassuring fact is that France herself realizes her mistake, and now seeks a return to the international business relations of former years, which made all the great industrial and commercial nations rich from trading with each other.

Memory and Forgettery

Remember all the way the Lord thy God hath led thee.—Deut. 5:1.
 Thou shalt forget the shame of thy youth.—Isa. 54:4.

What to remember—what to forget—that is the question. It seems to me that the good things, the heavenly guidance, the help that other men have given us to keep the right path, are the things to remember.

The mistakes, the false leads, the devilish influences, are the things to forget.

Perhaps the people who misled you were sincere. Don't condemn them. Forget their advice.

Can we control our memory and our forgettery?

Not absolutely, perhaps.

But the psychologists tell us that the vividness of our memory depends on the stress of attention. Therefore, says St. Paul, "If there be any virtue, if there be any praise, think on these things."

Attend more closely to that which is beautiful and excellent.

Press it on your mind like a seal on wax. Rejoice in it. Do not be afraid to be glad.

Joy is a great aid to memory. It is a vital principle of all true knowledge.

If you know the truth it makes you free, and to be free is to be joyful.

Deep inward happiness is the spirit of true remembrance.

Joseph called the name of his first-born son Remembrance. "For," said he, "God hath made me forget all my evil."

DR. JOHN'S CHURCH DAMAGED

Builder Weighing Three Quarters of Ton Thrown Through Roof of Grace Methodist Church in Wilmington.

O. B. Howe is in receipt of a letter from Rev. B. M. Johns, former pastor of the First Methodist church of this city and now pastor of Grace church in Wilmington, Del., one of the finest edifices in that state, the letter being dated June 30, which says:

"I presume you have read in the papers concerning the cyclone which swept over Wilmington. It was a terrible storm. It hurled a great boulder weighing about three quarters of a ton right through the roof of Grace church, breaking rafters and plaster and falling into the choir stall behind the console, smashing seats in the choir stall to smithereens and splitting the chancel rail. Then another huge boulder of similar size struck the roof on the other side of the church, breaking big holes in the roof, through which smaller stones were hurled. You can imagine what faced us when we went into the church at the close of the storm, realizing that the organ pipes were all filled with plaster and dirt and that the water which came down in torrents had run all through the pipes and organ, making a terrible mess of the carpets, etc."

"After an expenditure of $50,000 in beautifying the church, it was a most disheartening thing, and for several days after the storm I was sick at heart but am coming around all O. K. On Sunday morning I preached to the people on courage and fortitude and the necessity of having the stuff to endure the hard places in life. Believe me, there was no one in the audience that needed the message as much as the one who was delivering it. The people are wonderfully fine about it. We are already at work rebuilding the organ and repairing the damages, and all are determined that everything shall be as new as ever, of course that is a hard thing to do, but you can depend upon it the committee will do their best. We were exceedingly fortunate that the wonderful window back of the pulpit was not broken, and even more fortunate that no one was killed. There were several city blocks where there was not a house that did not have the roof blown off and then following the wind storm, was much rain."

While Oneonta friends will sympathize with Dr. Johns and his people, we know of no pastor better fitted to view the situation with hope and to lead the people in restoring the edifice than the pastor of Grace church.

It Simply Can't Be Done.

Prosperity cannot be restored by standing around and whining about inequality of opportunity.

Law enactment can never take the place of industry and thrift as potential factors in permanent prosperity.

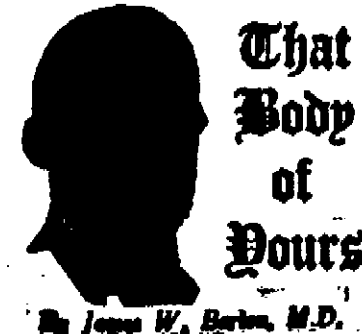

Waste may not be indulged in without the danger of facing want.

Theories are not fit foundation stones for government until they have been made demonstrable facts.

Law enactment is the simplest step towards curing of evil conditions, but law enforcement is impossible without the backing of public opinion.

This country cannot waste and have; it cannot stand still and go on to perfection; it cannot destroy and have; it cannot build from the top down.

There are some things that simply can't be done.—Omaha Bee.

TO BEAT THE HEAT.

There will come days of hot weather that will cause prostrations more or less throughout the entire country.

The old fashioned methods of treating these are still good enough. That is, a cool shady spot with cold water to head and chest. A little later if attack has been severe, enough to cause collapse, you give stimulants and actually apply heat to the body to induce perspiration. But you've often read about the natives and others of hot countries who really know how to beat the heat.

They simply go off to sleep during the hot part of the day and give their bodies a complete rest.

Because the real cause of heat exhaustion is that the intense heat has interfered with your own heat center, and has actually paralyzed them. The trouble is actually due in most cases to the fact that you can't get rid of the natural heat of the body, and the natural waste matter that should go out of the body by perspiration.

And yet if you work, you manufacture more heat and waste matter. If an electric fan is working near you and you are perspiring well, the amount of heat and waste matter of which you rid your body is enormous.

Under conditions of this kind, if you are in good shape physically, you can endure a great amount of heat.

If your circulation is poor, you are in a run down condition generally, and then in very hot weather it would be wise for you to follow the custom of the people of hot countries, and lie down in as cool a place as possible during the middle of the day.

But the real way to beat the heat is to have yourself in good physical condition, with a heart muscle strong enough to send the blood around the body, and to the skin with good force.

Then with the skin kept clean with a daily bath, and light loose clothes that allow a good circulation of air next to the skin, you help the evaporation of the heated water from your body.

Eat light food in small amounts that is easily digested, even if you have to eat an extra meal a day. Cut down on your meats and heavy pastries. Keep out of the sun. Have your windows protected from the sun and then you can keep some windows open.

Don't do any more work than is absolutely necessary during the hot part of the day.

And another big thing. The best refrigerant for the body at all times, is an empty large stomach.

HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL

FRANKLIN WINS SEVERE TEST

Franklin Demi-Sedan Takes First Place in 12-Day, 1900-Mile Road Run.

A Franklin Demi-Sedan took first place both in economy and endurance in the grueling 12-day, 1900-mile road run staged by The El Paso Herald under the sanction of the Automobile Association of America, which started at El Paso on May 17, and ended there on May 28.

This run was over Texas, New Mexico and Arizona roads, through desert wastes, mountains and mountain canyons. Part of the route was over roads described by experienced drivers as "the worst in the world."

Franklin participated in this run with 14 makes of cars, divided into classifications according to price. Average speed required was regulated on the same basis, 16 miles per hour for the lowest class, 18 and 18 for the next two classes and 20 miles per hour for top class in which Franklin competed.

Triumphing easily in its own price class, in which the Franklin and Paige started, Franklin out-performed a number of cars in lower classifications and defeated all cars in economy above the classification including only the smallest cars.

Paige protested their score and penalties.

On certain parts of the run where second and low gear was required for hours at a stretch in mountain climbing, the pressure air-cooling system of the Franklin demonstrated great efficiency, bringing the car through on schedule where others were penalized for radiators boiling dry and for failing to make the required time.

The Franklin, one of two closed cars entered and the only one to win, was a stock car. To enter this contest, it was driven through from Syracuse to El Paso, a distance of 2,700 miles in nine days' time, part of it across Missouri roads which were at their worst owing to spring rains.

The winning car, which finished the run in excellent condition, will be driven back to Syracuse, stopping at principal cities enroute to allow inspection by the public.

SOME AMAZING FIGURES.

Given by a Mathematical Genius on Ford Production.

With Ford No. 10,000,000 scheduled to cross the United States on the Lincoln Highway, a genius for figures has worked out the matter of staging a parade of the entire 10,000,000 Model T Fords. Here's the way he figures it.

The road selected is 24,840 miles long circling the earth at the equator. He parks the Fords in one place at the side of the road, sets a pace of 20 miles an hour for the parade and starts the cars at intervals of 20 seconds.

Drivers are to have an eight-hour rest, the time as that required to eat Ford employees and are, of course, to have Sunday, Christmas, New Year's and Fourth of July off.

If one was inclined to watch such a parade and would remain until the last car passed, he would have to stick at his place along the line for 22 1/2 years.

With all the Fords remaining in line, it wouldn't be long before he would find himself in the center of a whirling corker of cars, and as the genius has already figured it, if he remained to the finish, and were observant, he probably would have noticed that the first car passed him 67 times before the last or ten-millionth car had left the parking ground.

Furthermore, figuring Ford production on the time basis of the last million, 3,000,000 more Ford cars would have been built while he was watching the parade.

A New Treadmill Sign.

A treadmill sign that is quite different and not without a strong appeal to sportsmen is reported as follows:

"Sportsmen, this land is not paved of asphalt treadmill. The owner wants you half way. Give him a square deal. Protect forest land. Preserve cultivated fields. Protect fences and stone walls. Leave some game for me."

The most conspicuous sign is used in making, handling and packing fly-rod based lures. It reaches you in a solid, airtight package, as lasting and delicious as when it was shipped.

Days of Old Recalled by Items Clipped from The Star Files.

July 3, 1894.

The residences of Walter S. Whipple, F. D. Miller and R. Wesley Miller are being wired for electric lights. Work upon the Mohawk extension of the trolley road is being pushed rapidly. The steam engine and gravel train are now being operated day and night to get the grading done. It is said that cars will be running to Mohawk by August 20.

The Oneonta Grocery company has leased an additional store in the S. B. Gardner warehouse, 49 and 51 Market street, which will give the company 1,800 square feet additional floor space. The expansion is made necessary by the steadily increasing business of the company.

Owen Phillips and helper, from Oneonta, a surveyor, was here on Wednesday, taking observations and grade elevations of a proposed trolley from Oneonta to Catskill, via Deposit, Stamford, Brantville, Windham and Cairo. We found Mr. Phillips a man of keen observation. He did not disclose the projectors of this work. Hurrah for the road! It would be a big financial success, and the nearest route to the Hudson from Oneonta, by many miles.—Windham Journal.

July 3, 1894.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Graves, yesterday morning, a ten pound boy, Verner.

W. H. VanDeusen, F. J. Bourgeois, Jr., William E. Terrell and William Higgins have been accepted as members of the Lewis Hose company.

Is it not high time that Otsego county erect in the most prominent spot in the streets of her principal town, Oneonta, a monument grand enough in appearance and enduring enough in character to adequately voice the patriotism and love of the living, and tell to coming generations the heroic story of the dead?

Yesterday's Star, containing an announcement that the shops were all to go eight hours' time had hardly been issued, when word was received that all departments would be placed on ten hours' time hereafter. That it was gratifying news goes without saying, though none fully appreciate it save the men whom it affects.

TROOPERS AT BINGHAMTON.

One Hundred from Four Barracks Summoned for Special Duty.

Yesterday 100 state troopers from four barracks set out for Binghamton riding one horse and leading another, prepared to be on duty during the gathering of the Klan in that city for four days commencing today.

The troopers will patrol the city and Stowe park during the convention of the Klans and will probably string along the line of march for the parade of Friday. The detachment will be in command of Captain D. E. Fox of Sidney. All vacations have been suspended for the Binghamton police force and the sheriff will have all his deputies available in case of need.

There's one fact for children that's particularly handy—good, old-fashioned nut-bone made with Williams' Pink Pills. And how they love it!

The little mother keeps a supply on hand. A big bottle of nut-bone will make 3 gallons of delicious nut-bone. Ask your grocer.

Wife Votes "Aye;" Husband "Nay"

The time-honored theory that a wife votes as her husband has been finally exploded at least in the Patterson family. Both W. L. and Mrs. Patterson, Augusta, Me., had voted at the Democratic convention. Patterson voted "aye" and his wife "nay".

FIRE CHIEF SOUNDS WARNING.

Urges Citizens to Make It a Safe and Sound Fourth.

Fire Chief Choate is anxious that Oneonta continue in the way of safety and sanity in its observance of Independence Day and suggests that care be exercised lest there follow loss of life and property.

Referring to the subject he is quoted as saying: "Following every Fourth the newspapers continue to tell of mutilations and deaths. Last year, one place and not the most populous, either, had five deaths, 16 serious injuries and 60 fires, all due to fireworks. In 1923, several small children died from poison after eating various kinds of fireworks. Out of course, most of the trouble comes from sparks and explosions resulting in loss of sight and fingers, and in ugly burns about faces and hands.

"Thousands of parents who, even before the restrictions came, forbade their children to celebrate in the old-fashioned way, still allow them to play with sparklers, toy balloons and other pyrotechnics, which they believe harmless. Last year in one small town in Louisiana, however, nine little girls had their dresses ignited with sparklers, with result that four are in their graves and the others disfigured for life. The list of similar disasters is long; for though the sparks given off may be harmless, the metal core itself becomes red-hot and will easily ignite flimsy fabrics.

"As for the miniature balloons, they are hazardous not only while they are being released, but also in the possibility of their dropping on inflammable roofs or other combustible surfaces.

"If some display of fireworks is considered imperative, let them be set off only in a properly safe-guarded function, which the children can enjoy without danger and where there is no exposure to burnable property."

The best time you go on a picnic fill your thermos bottle with Oneonta coffee. It makes everything taste better.

THE FOURTH AT STAMFORD

Program of Independence Day Events in Queens County City of Catskills.

Stamford, July 2.—(Special)—The program of Independence Day events at Stamford is drawing summer residents earlier in the season than in any previous year and the thirty or more local hotels are preparing for the real opening of the season Friday. This section of the Catskill mountains seems to have shown a big increase in summer visitors in the past few days, owing to extensive preparations for celebration of the Fourth on a much larger scale than ever.

The Stamford Blues baseball team will make its first appearance here Friday on the home diamond and Manager Roy Thomas announces that Corbin, the star of the New York University team this spring will be on the mound. The team will play every Tuesday and Friday hereafter, Tannersville and Kingston being the opponents next week.

In the afternoon "Jackie Ott" will make his first appearance of the season at the water sports program, which is conducted by his father, Alexander Ott, Jackie, the five-year-old baby champion, spent the winter at Miami amassing thousands with his antics and high diving. He will appear in the newly renovated tank near the Tannersville club hotel. The Midnight Sons orchestra will furnish music for this event as well as the dances at the Country club in the afternoon.

In the evening a dance carnival will be held at the Country club, the grand march starting just after the black celebration of fireworks this section has seen, just in front of the Country club. Nearly $1,000 worth of fireworks has been arranged for, including a number of set pieces of vast proportions along the valley where they can be seen to good advantage.

C. A. Fallon of Greycourt inn is in charge of the carnival and the grand march will be headed by Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Navarro and Frank Malone, the well known tenor singer on Koot's circuit. Eight prizes have been contributed by local merchants for the dancing, the chairman for this committee consisting of Prof. Riccardo E. Manrique of the Savage School of Physical Education and Mrs. J. H. DeSilva.

The full program of summer recreations and attractions will start Friday, including swimming, mountain climbing, horseback riding, golf, tennis and the many other attractions this section of the Catskills affords.

Mrs. Peck Gaining in Strength.

The many friends of Mrs. C. W. Peck will be glad to know that she is showing a steady gain in strength at the Fox Memorial hospital where she has been confined since her injuries in an automobile accident early this spring.

Tuesday was her birthday anniversary and among the guests whom she entertained were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. More of Albany, the former having nicely recovered from the stroke he sustained in the same accident, while riding in the Peck machine.

FRANK D. PEARSON

If story telling is a fine art, then Frank D. Pearson is entitled to a doctor's degree. It is largely through the medium of the story that Dr. Pearson's lecture on "World Building" is given—a thoughtful, humorous, inspiring address. "World Building," as Dr. Pearson sees it, is not political, economic or geographical extension, but the enlarging of the individual world of each and every human being.

Dr. Pearson, as representative of education of the state of Ohio, dealt with large problems of human interest. This contact he has sustained, since his retirement as commissioner, through his position as editor-in-chief of the Ohio Educational Monthly.

Dr. Pearson will fire the opening gun of the Respath Chautauqua for 1924. He appears on the first afternoon.

THE FOURTH AT PINE LAKE.

Notable Gathering of Vaudeville Stars for Afternoon and Evening.

Manager Celler has arranged an exceptionally attractive program for the observance of the Fourth at Pine Lake and he cordially invites the public to attend and enjoy the cool shade and the attractions provided. In view of the special features for Friday, the usual dance on Thursday evening will be omitted this week.

Among the special attractions he announces a new $7,000 merry-go-round and a fine display of fireworks in the evening. There have been secured for the day a large number of headline vaudeville acts, which are commencing in a display advertisement appearing in this issue.

Dancing will follow the evening performance. The charge for witnessing all the attractions and for the dance is only 50 cents—the best bargain offered for the day.

Mrs. Cool Resting Comfortably.

Mrs. T. Cool of Pittsfield, Mass., who was removed from the Oneonta hotel to the Fox Memorial hospital early Tuesday morning following a stroke which she suffered, was reported to be resting comfortably at the hospital last evening.

NO DELIVERY OF ICE ON FRIDAY.

Since there will be no delivery of ice on Friday, the Fourth, residential deliveries will be made by the Oneonta ice & fuel company Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday. advt 21

Oneonta Tire &amp; Rubber Co.

Announces to all Car Owners New and Lower Prices on Kelly Cords

The Greatest Tire Value That Has Ever Been Offered

Eight or nine years ago when 3,500 miles was considered good mileage for an automobile tire, Kellys gained a great reputation by consistently delivering twice and three times that.

Today, Kellys are incomparably better than the tires on which the Kelly reputation was built, but because of greatly increased production the cost has been reduced.

The Kellys of today are the strongest, sturdiest, longest-wearing tires that Kelly has ever built, yet they cost no more than other tires which have never had the Kelly reputation. Kellys are the greatest tire value that has ever been offered.

ESTERN FOR MRS. W. L. LAFINE
Expressed by Unadilla Club and Church Women.

Unadilla, July 2. — Mrs. W. L. Allen entertained the members of the Monday club at her home in honor of Mrs. William LaPine, who is soon to remove to Oneonta. The afternoon was passed in a social way, the thought of losing such an esteemed member. A dainty supper was served.

In the evening some 20 or more women of the Methodist church made Mrs. LaPine a surprise visit in the evening of the same day and another pleasant occasion resulted. Light refreshments were served by the guests. As a token of their sincere affection for her, the guests presented Mrs. LaPine with a beautiful brooch, which will often remind her of her Unadilla friends, and the pleasant times they have had together.

Mr. and Mrs. LaPine and their children have been residents of Unadilla for many years and are citizens who have been interested in all affairs of the church and community and many friends are extending best wishes for future happiness.

To Camp on Oneonta Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Tyson and sons, Harold and Wayne, are anticipating a few days of pleasurable camping on Oneonta lake with Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Goldsmith and Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Goldsmith and daughter, Emily Jane, at Camp House Harry. The Tysons leave Unadilla for camp on Friday.

Airplane View of Wrecked Buildings in Loraine

The cries of the dying still were rising from the ruins when this photograph was taken from an NEA Service airplane at dawn Sunday at Loraine, Ohio. The white structure in the center is the State Moving Picture Theatre where some 150 women and children were trapped beneath falling walls. About 100 dead and injured were believed to be in adjoining ruins when this photograph was taken.

RIOTERS RECEIVE JAIL SENTENCES

Alleged Klansmen and Lilly Citizens Are Convicted of Affray

Ebenburg, Pa., July 2. — Refusing the motions to set aside judgment and for a new trial in the cases of 17 alleged members of the Ku Klux Klan and ten Lilly residents, convicted of affray and unlawful assembly in connection with the fatal rioting at Lilly the night of April 6, Judge D. Finletter of Philadelphia, yesterday sentenced the 28 men to imprisonment in the county jail, the terms dating from their incarceration.

In the case of three other Lilly residents convicted on the same charges, Judge Finletter granted probation for arrest of judgment. These three men are Jeremiah Leany, John P. Bradley and Robert Monahan.

From the bench today Judge Finletter stated that he did not wish to inflict cruel sentence and said "but the fact cannot be overlooked that the defendants' actions brought about the death of three Lilly citizens."

WHITE CEDAR HELD PRECIOUS IN JAPAN

Fast Vanishing Supply Held for Temple Use.

Washington. — A representative of a western lumber concern, who has returned from a visit to Japan, has informed Manager Blalock of the Seattle office of the Department of Commerce that the supply of white cedar in that country is controlled by the imperial family and comes from one of their estates. There is also a white cedar which comes from the island of Formosa, but this is less desirable because it has a tendency to be pluck in the center.

The Japanese white cedar of the highest grade is considered practically sacred. All of the wood 18 inches and up in diameter is reserved for the emperor's use. The lower grades, however, are disposed of like other woods. Especially fine pieces are reserved for the temples of the emperors. Only white cedar grown in Japan is used for building temples.

In the opinion of this visitor, most of the white cedar shipped to Japan is used for exposed beams on the inside of dwelling houses, where this wood is prized for its appearance and long duration. One instance is cited in which a Japanese paid $1,000 in gold in this country for a choice beam 18 inches square, 20 feet long, with perfect diagonal grain.

Polish timber exports in 1923 increased to 1,165,000 tons, valued at approximately $30,000,000, from 1,023,528 tons, valued at $24,000,000, in 1922. Assistant Trade Commissioner Baldwin, Warsaw, reports to the Department of Commerce. Virtually the entire increase, which is said to have led to excessive exploitation of Polish timber resources, occurred in the first half of the year. Following the imposition in June of export taxes intended to check excess cutting and equally to stimulate the domestic wood-sawing and manufacturing industry by limiting the export of raw materials, shipments in the second half of the year fell to mere fractions of their former volume.

He Left Hastily

Two years ago I liked over the Dixie highway from central Georgia to Indianapolis, writes a correspondent. While passing through the mountains of Tennessee I spotted a bush, well laden with ripe berries, growing by the side of the road. Of course I stopped and began to pick and eat them. "Hizzaz!" and I certainly moved away from there in a hurry, because a rattlesnake was warning me that I was encroaching on its property.

Well, How About It?

"He was a thoughtful boy," "Injustice!" exclaimed "the world is full of it. I can find a path of twelve." "How is that?" asked an elderly companion. "Have you not observed," pursued the youthful philosopher, "how that a boy who has never sworn to obey his mother's husband has never entered the sea, while that same mother who has sworn to obey him, never drowns?"

Expressive Phrase

The phrase "have you not" is a beautiful English idiom of past centuries. There is no other phrase that belongs so widely and completely to the many and to the sea. By saying "Have you not observed the command of a superior, you express not only courtesy but you also make it known that you understand your duty. Instruct Yours.

HUMAN FACE IS GROWING LONGER, SAYS SCIENTIST

British Anatomist Reports That Teeth and Mouth Are Being Forced Downward.

London.—The human face is growing longer, according to Sir Arthur Keith, famous British anatomist. Many strange changes are overtaking the human face, says this professor, who has spent a lifetime in studying the skulls of all races.

The chief change is in the bone of the mouth. This is growing downward and carrying with it the teeth, as a result of which there has been an increase of half an inch in the length of the modern face.

These changes, it seems, are also affecting the upper bones of the face, giving it a downward tendency. They correlate with changes in modern industrial conditions and Professor Keith believes they are due to the absence of light in the big cities of today.

Among other changes which he mentions in the modern skull are:

A contracted palate.

Downward growth of cheek bone.

Teeth sinking backward.

Teeth now 12 millimeters below the teeth of primitive peoples.

Appearance of a sharp ledge of bone between the teeth and the nose.

"These changes are nothing like finished," says Sir Arthur. "I am convinced that the displacement of the teeth and the resultant contracted palate are connected with such disorders as adenoids."

George F. Baker Gives $5,000,000 to Harvard

New York.—George F. Baker, who began working 70 years ago as a grocer boy in Troy, N. Y., for $2 a week, and after more than sixty years in Wall street, has become one of the four richest men in this country, has added to his list of public benefactions an endowment of $5,000,000 for the Harvard graduate school of business administration.

This makes a total of approximately $12,000,000 which he has given for public purposes during the last six years.

His fortune is estimated at more than $300,000,000. He is grouped with John D. Rockefeller, Henry Ford and Andrew Mellon as the four richest men in the United States. Mr. Baker, who now is eighty-four years old, still is active in business and is chairman of the board of the First National bank.

In a letter making the gift to Harvard, he said, that since whatever distinction he might have attained in life had been principally from business experience, it would be a satisfaction to help make the Harvard business school of first importance.

Hair From Elephant's Tail Worn in London

London.—For centuries the hair from an elephant's tail has been worn as a charm by superstitious natives of the East. But only recently has this ancient precaution against the evil eye penetrated to London.

Now charms made from elephant hair are sold in the form of rings and bracelets. Rings may be obtained from $2.25 upward, and bracelets cost about the same price; although those with gold spiral mounts run up to $12.50 or more.

A very popular bracelet has a gold clasp with a partly elephant in white enamel hanging from a circle of hair; another has a strand of gold wire twisted with hair. Signet rings have the hair set in half the hoop at the back. There are also twisted rings and plain ones without the signet.

Get this power—save 30%!

Facts proved by 2 years of engineering tests

Gasoline performance like that charted above means new power for your motor.

It is possible for your motor—today!

And at a saving of 30% in what you would ordinarily pay for gasoline, a year.

33 cars tested 2 years

Our engineers have just completed 2 years' tests on 33 different cars. They found that PUROL gasoline gave motor performance represented by the curve on above chart.

All gasoline is made up of combustible units. The columns of type at left of chart shows the requirements of these units, if a motor is to have full power.

And the curve shows how PUROL performance coincides with the ideal requirements!

So it saves 30%

Automotive authorities know that full-power gas decreases gas-

eral upkeep. And the other way 'round. This is proved by two years of engineering tests. Records show:

That PUROL gives 33% greater mileage. That it burns clean—doesn't drip into crankcase—saving 14.2% of gasoline here. For this reason saves $2.98 on lubricating oil in a year in general repairs!

On the average consumption of 500 gallons per car, the first two savings—87½ gallons—total $17.50. The four, together, show a yearly saving of $30.81—30% of the average yearly gasoline cost!

Make your own test

As hour's driving with PUROL will show you new performance from your motor—new power—new flexibility. Try it.

Get PUROL at any Pure Oil Service Station or dealer's. You'll know when by the pump's painted "Pure Oil" blue.

It is a test worth making.

FORGOTTEN DECLARATIONS INDEPENDENCE

SAM HOUSTON

When Vermont Was An Independent Country —The Forgotten State of Franklin—The American Rebellion in Texas—Cal- ifornia As a Republic.

By RENE BAUCHE

THE county of Aroostook, which is in area nearly a fourth part of Maine, wants to be a full-fledged State of the Union. There has recently been a good deal of agitation on the subject in that region; and, were it not that declarations of independence have gone out of fashion, something of the sort might be attempted by Aroostook.

There have been very interesting precedents in our history. One of them, in 1777, was a declaration of independence by New Connecticut.

but nowadays it is called Vermont. The colony of New Hampshire claimed that its territory properly extended as far west as the western boundary of Massachusetts and Connecticut. The colony of New York claimed possession as far east as the Connecticut River. In other words they both laid claim to what is now Vermont. The British government decided in favor of New York, and settlers in the disputed strip were ordered to repurchase their lands from the authorities at Albany.

New Connecticut Breaks Loose

This they refused to do. Under Ethan Allen, Remember Baker, and one or two other courageous leaders, they took up arms, organizing in 1777 a military force called the Green Mountain Boys. Threats of armed invasion did not frighten them, and the situation remained practically in statu quo until January, 1777, when, on the fifteenth day of that month, they adopted a declaration of independence and assumed for their territory the name of New Connecticut.

The first Legislature of New Connecticut met at Windsor in March of the following year. In the meantime New York and New Hampshire had made a secret agreement to divide the rebellious territory between them, the Green Mountains being the dividing line. But the trouble with New Hampshire was adjusted in 1782 that State assuming the Connecticut River as its western boundary. New York refused to abandon its claim.

New Connecticut continued to be an independent country until it was admitted to the Union, March 4, 1791. It was the fourteenth State—the first baby, so to speak, born to the Union. It adopted the name Vermont—meaning green mountain—and framed a constitution after the model of that of Pennsylvania.

It is a fact worth mentioning in this connection that Vermont was the first of the States to abolish slavery.

The State Of Franklin

When the war of the Revolution started, Tennessee was a region very sparsely settled. It was a remote wilderness peopled by a few thousand hardy mountaineers and their families. In 1776 they addressed a petition to the Legislature of North Carolina, asking to be annexed. The request was granted, and thus Tennessee became and remained part of North Carolina until after the close of the Revolution.

North Carolina then decided that, on account of expense and for other reasons, it could set along better without Tennessee; and, without consulting the wishes of the people of that territory, it ceded the whole of the latter. In June, 1784, to the Federal government, calling it the district of Washington. The transfer was subject to acceptance by the Federal government within two years.

The settlers of Tennessee thereupon rose up in wrath, called a convention, in August, 1784, and formed the State of Franklin. Realizing that it had made a mistake, the Legislature of North Carolina hastened to undo it, and re-annexed the territory. But the people of Franklin declined to be re-annexed, and Capt. John Sevier, a typical frontiersman, was inaugurated as Governor at Watauga, March 1, 1785. Courts were established, a militia was organized, and peace was made with the Indians. The territory formed part of North Carolina until 1790, when it was ceded to the Federal government, and in June, 1796, it was admitted to the Union as the State of Tennessee. Sevier was elected its first Governor.

Texas Declares Its Freedom

There are still surviving in this country a good many people who were alive when Texas split off from Mexico and became a republic, adopting a declaration of independence and framing a constitu-

There was much immigration from the United States into Texas during the period from 1826 to 1836, most of the settlers coming from the Southern section of the Union and bringing slaves with them. Slavery was disapproved by the Mexican government, and it made trouble, but dispute on that subject had nothing to do with the political strife which followed.

In 1835 Santa Anna overthrew the existing constitution of Mexico and proclaimed himself dictator. The Americans in Texas were disposed to fight him, but, under the peace-making influence of Stephen F. Austin, they sought instead a union with Mexican Liberals for the restoration of the constitution.

OF FRANKLIN

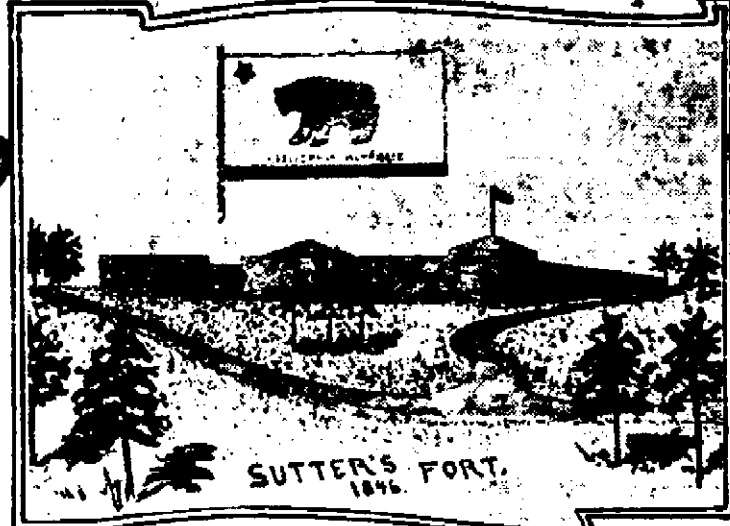

They organized a provisional government, with Sam Houston as "major general of the armies of Texas," and sought aid from the United States.

Hostilities followed, and a first success was gained by the Americans, who routed a Mexican force near Gonzales. Later, in March, 1836, the Mexicans under Santa Anna captured the Alamo and slaughtered the garrison of 132 captured a force of 371 men, led by Capt. J. W. Fannin, and massacred all but twenty, who managed to escape.

Sam Houston then took command, and retreated before Santa Anna to the Jacinto River, where he turned upon the enemy and dealt a crushing blow which brought the war to an end. Santa Anna's army was annihilated, nearly all of his men being killed, wounded or made prisoners. Santa Anna was himself captured. The Americans lost only two killed and twenty-three wounded.

In the meantime a convention of Texans had been held in the town of Washington, which, on the second day of March, 1836, declared official appointment under the Mexican government, from which he had received a grant of land covering eleven square leagues (ninety-nine square miles) about the present site of the city of Sacramento. Upon it he had built a fort, which, commanding the interior country, and lying on the route followed by overland immigrants, was in its day an important stronghold.

On June 14—a few days after Fremont had established himself at Sutter's Fort—a party of fourteen Americans started a small revolution on their own account, captured Sonoma, and declared war against Mexico. They made a flag, the middle of which was occupied by a picture of a grizzly bear, beneath it were the words "California Republic."

The temporary government thus set up is known in history as the Bear Flag Republic. Its original banner now ornaments the rooms of the Pioneer Society in San Francisco.

Meanwhile news had come of the outbreak of war along the Rio Grande, and on July 4 Fremont called a meeting at Sonoma which formally proclaimed the independence of California. He was appointed Governor.

Soon afterwards there came intelligence that Commodore Sloat had arrived at Monterey (July 7).

also, that by his orders Commander Montgomery, of the U. S. Sloop of war Portsmouth, had taken possession of San Francisco.

Sloat, having heard of the trouble with Mexico, had sailed promptly from Mazatlan for California, where he took possession of the country and raised the American flag on his own responsibility. He was none too soon, for exactly a week later, July 14, the British man-of-war Collingwood, commanded by Sir George Seymour, arrived at Monterey to proclaim British sovereignty. It was thus by only a narrow chance that England did not become the possessor of California, which she had greatly coveted.

Independence Of California

California (then a part of Mexico) declared its independence on the fourth day of July, 1846.

Capt. John C. Fremont had been sent to the west coast on an exploring expedition a year earlier. He was on his way to Oregon when he was overtaken by an officer sent from Washington with a message ordering him to wait and cooperate with the Pacific squadron in case of hostilities with Mexico.

Accordingly, Fremont returned to California and took up his headquarters at Sutter's Fort.

There were at that time in California about 200 Americans, one of the most prominent of whom was John A. Sutter. He held an

Testing Monster Weighing Machines A Big Task — Weights of 10,000 Lbs Each — Accuracy Essential At Coal Mines.

By FLOYD MONTGOMERY

IF the use of five-ton weights should ever be applied to the sugar scales of the nation, few young men would choose to become grocery clerks.

Just the same, the Bureau of Standards has these five-ton weights. The four-pound weight of ten thousand pounds is a part of the day's work with the railroad scale makers of the United States Government. To these men it is no job at all to handle half a dozen of them before breakfast.

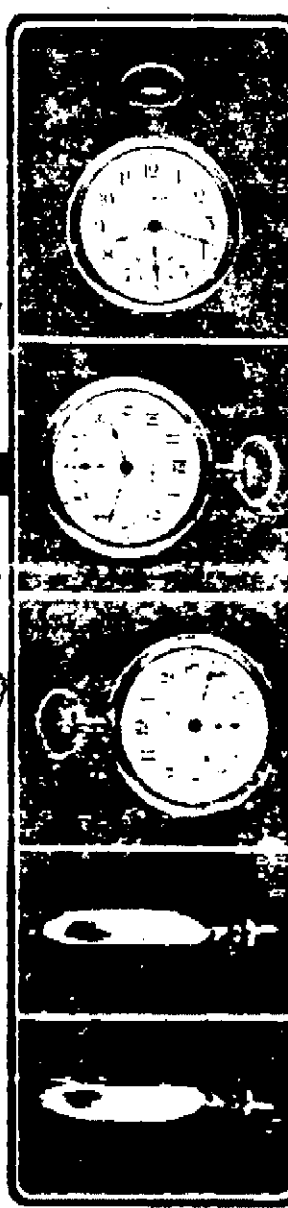

The purpose of this testing is to carry out the Government's aim to bring the ton of New York or New England weighing into a single standard with the ton of Texas or California. To the precisely graded official of the United States Bureau of Standards there is no reason why the New York ton should weigh one thing and the Texas ton something else.

Test Weights Of 25,000 Pounds
The test car has a range of weights extending from 2,500 to 25,000 pounds. In appearance it resembles the up-to-date box car. Within this car is a truck equipped with movable weights. The weighing master slides this truck in or out from the platform car by means of a mechanical crane, and in that way, in a few minutes, he transfers the platform of the scales to be tested.

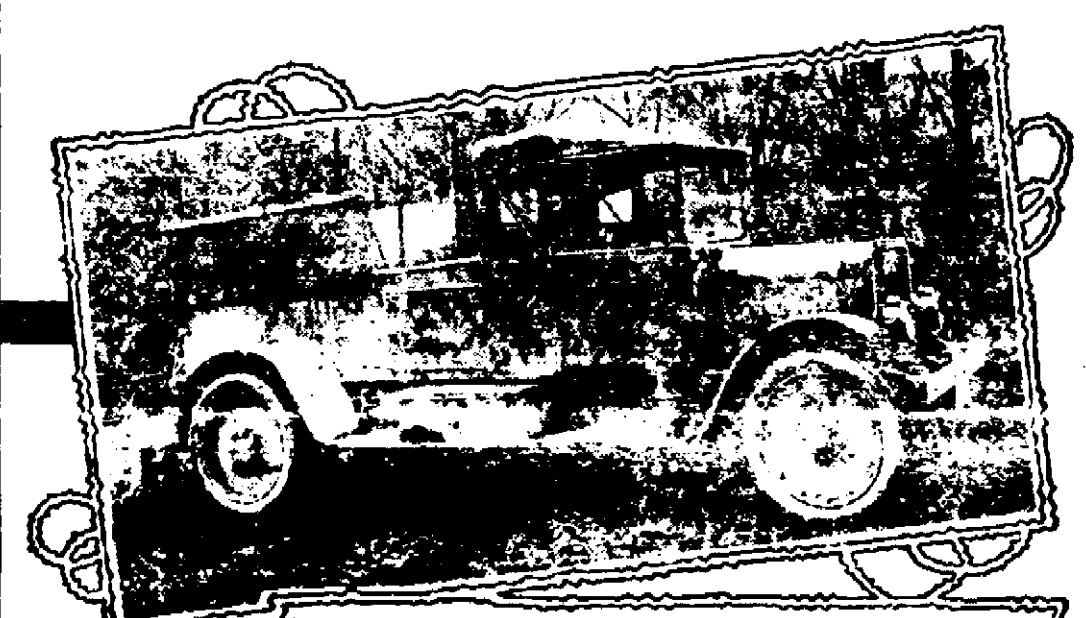

The truck itself weighs 1,000 pounds. Its equipment includes eight weights of 1,250 pounds each and four of 2,500 pounds each, giving an aggregate of 12½ tons.

Another form of test car is the small truck of solid construction, and known weight. Trucks of this type travel in pairs one of them weighing 10,000 pounds and the other 4,000. They are used in testing truck scales as are also the 25,000 and 12,500 pound test weights. They are used in testing coal scales.

in coal mines the Bureau of Standards has been careful of accuracy and contention. More than one scale has been the result of trouble based on the miners' lack of faith in the accuracy of the scales used for weighing coal and thereby establishing a basis for payment.

In this work the Bureau uses motor trucks built with a view to obtaining speed, power and endurance. The body of each of these trucks is built to afford convenient means for hauling and handling 2,400 pounds of test weights in 50 pound units, scales, kit, other necessary testing apparatus and the baggage of the field party, which makes the truck its chief means of transportation.

Testing Our Watches

From the handling of 20,000 pounds a day to the hair-splitting accuracy of time, the Bureau of Standards. In the measurement of time and the testing of watches and clocks the Bureau acknowledges no superior. The service is performed for National and State Government departments and for the general public, and includes tests and comparisons and a certification of accuracy.

In this work the daily readings of a watch are recorded on the graphic chart of a chronograph connected with the electric seconds contact of the Bureau's standard clock. This clock, by the way, is as fine an example of accuracy as has ever been devised.

The position of a watch has much to do with its accuracy, as all of us know from warnings given us by jewelers that we should keep our watches in upright position at night. In making tests the Bureau's experts subject a watch to observation for several days in each of five positions. During tests are made for uniformity of loss or gain throughout the day, to establish the deviations in rate which occur between windings.

Temperature tests are also made, at 41, 68 and 95 degrees Fahrenheit, to enable adjustment as nearly as possible to the extremes ordinarily encountered. These tests are useful to manufacturers and consumers alike and of especial value to watch owners because of the data afforded as to the accuracy of the individual watch to secure accurate adjustment.

Our Courts and Human Liberty Under American Constitution Theme of Inspiring Address

Hon. Cuthbert W. Pound, Judge of Court of Appeals, Discusses Rights of Individual, State and National Rights Before Otsego Bar Association—Large Attendance Yesterday at Unadilla—President Flaesch and Other Officers Relected.

There are 14 members of the bar of Otsego county, according to the last published in the last supreme court calendar. At the second annual meeting of the Otsego County Bar association, held yesterday in Unadilla, there were ninety members and guests who sat down to the excellent dinner served at 1 o'clock at the Unadilla hotel. From which it would appear that the bar of the county itself had a very full representation. Moreover, it was such a gathering as will long be remembered, so pleasant was the meeting and so delightful the hours of intercourse of those who, though often opponents in the courts, are personally the warmest of friends.

The reception preceding the banquet was held at Twin Pines, the home of President Charles C. Flaesch, where all in attendance gathered at noon and were cordially greeted by Mr. Flaesch and his charming wife. Here an hour was spent in informal get-togethers, and before departing by auto for the Unadilla hotel, a group picture was taken of all in attendance, and the annual business meeting of the association was held. At this meeting the reports of the various officers and committees were presented and speedily disposed of and officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President—Charles C. Flaesch.
First vice president—L. E. Walrath.
Second vice president—Alva Reynolds.

Secretary—L. L. Kellogg.
Directors—Merritt Bridges, George L. Bookes, E. R. Campbell.

C. T. Backus of Cooperstown was elected an active member of the association and Justice James P. Hill of Norwich was made an honorary member. No action was taken by the association, either approving or disapproving the proposed change in the number of Federal court districts in the state of New York.

A resolution was also introduced and unanimously passed extending the sympathy of the association to Justice Albert H. Sweet and expressing the hope that he will soon be restored to his normal health.

At the close of the meeting the members and guests, among the latter being attorneys from most of the counties in the Sixth judicial district, departed by auto for the Unadilla hotel, which for hill and for valley outlook is as delightful as "Twin Pines," with its fine trees, its sweep of velvet lawn, its flower garden and its view of the river immediately in the foreground.

At the Unadilla hotel, which, like Unadilla means "place of meeting" and is in fact an earlier form of that word, an excellent repast had been provided for a company which filled all available space in dining room, parlor and the spacious halls. The service, like the dinner itself, was excellent, as was also the music by Dimpert's orchestra; and for all much credit was due Manager LePine and his staff.

At the close of the dinner, the diners repaired to the lawn where the address of the day was made by Hon. Cuthbert W. Pound of Lockport, associate judge of the court of appeals, with Supreme Court Justices Hill, Rhodes, Kellogg and McCann, of the sixth, and Justice Charles E. Nichols, of the third judicial district, were guests of honor of the association.

Judge Pound's Address.
Judge Pound, who in his term of public service had been successively state senator, civil service commissioner, counsel to the governor, and supreme court justice before attaining his present high position, was introduced by President Flaesch. In his introductory remarks

CHILDREN'S HEALTH CAMP

Boysen Young Girls to Have Benefit of Summer Outing at Cooperstown.

The Otsego county children's health camp, conducted annually by the Otsego county Tuberculosis and Public Health association, will open at Cooperstown Saturday, July 5, with ten or twelve girls from various parts of Otsego county. The children are malnourished, sickly, anaemic and subject to colds; and the object of the health camp is to put them in good health as possible through a regulated diet, composed chiefly of milk, vegetables, fruits and cereals; and by regular and long rest periods. The health camp being financed by the sale of Christmas Seals is of interest to all residents of Otsego county and a cordial invitation is extended to visit the camp near Cooperstown.

Hon. Charles C. Flaesch
Re-elected for third year as president of the Otsego County Bar association.

Judge Pound referred to the great pleasure which he had in visiting for the first time delightful Unadilla, and of greeting so large a representation of the bar of the county. Briefly also he expressed his belief that there should be no further barriers erected to prevent young men or women without prolonged college and high school training from entering the legal profession. Let law schools and colleges function as they may, and students seek their aid if they so desire, but he saw no reason why the right to practice law should be denied, provided they pass the required examinations, to those who have had high school, and four years in office or law school. The son of farmer, tradesman or mechanic has a right to be encouraged by rules which are not unreasonable in their requirements.

Following this introduction, Judge Pound announced as the subject of his address, which was most thoughtful and scholarly, "The Courts and Liberty Under the Constitution," saying in part:

"In the preamble of the U. S. Constitution, one of the purposes of the people is declared to be to secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity. Two principles are characteristic of Democracy," said Aristotle, the government of the majority and freedom. On these two principles our constitutional government still rests. One tends at times to encroach on the field of the other. Liberty under the law depends on the proper balancing of each. That government of the majority which limits the freedom of the citizen, represents, not the greatest measure of the privilege of the individual to do what he desires to do, but the will and power of the more active, energetic, united and influential of the community to impress on the whole body politic, without arousing serious discontent, a system of forms and rules of government deemed by them best fitted to its needs.

That many of the people favor a considerable degree of governmental restriction is manifest by the vast extension of the field of state activity in recent years. Professional callings, once open to all who cared to enter them, are now limited by educational

WITH THE KIWANIS.

Successive Criticisms on the Betterment of Oneonta Presented.

At the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club yesterday several members addressed the gathering giving their views of improvements that might be of benefit to the city. None of the speakers had criticisms to make, but all are strong in the belief that there is no better place and their suggestions were constructive, rather than destructive, in character. Miss Eva Trauger, a former resident of this city and Miss Josephine Trauger were present and delivered all present with solos and a duet. Other guests introduced by the chairman of the day, Rev. J. W. Flynn, were Waldo Keyes of Boston, Mass., and Harry C. Bard, Timothy Moran and Stuart M. Keenan of this city.

Overhauling Power Plant.

S. G. Hunter of Watertown, engineer and millwright, who two years ago was engaged here in rebuilding the water power plant of the Elmore Milling company, is here putting the power units in good condition for the coming winter. He expects to have it ready for operations again the present week.

George Rotary Coming.

The George Rotary club has been invited to be the guests of the Oneonta club on Thursday, July 11th, and it is probable that the invitation will be accepted.

Auction Friday, July 4.

TWO GOOD PLAYS COMING

Producers of Redpath Chautauqua in Oneonta During the Week of July 19 to 25.

Tickets for the Redpath Chautauqua, which will be in Oneonta during the week of July 19-25, are now on sale by guarantors. The price is $2.25 for the full course and after the guarantors have disposed of their allotment of tickets no more can be procured at this price.

The program this year is one of great interest. Two plays will be given. On the evening of the third day the new comedy, "Give and Take," with a new York cast, will be presented. This play has had long runs in New York and Chicago for the past two years and will be the comedy feature of the program. The story of the play centers around a wealthy Californian fruit canner, who has spent thirty years of his life in developing a business for his son, who when given the reins, attempts to run the business on the industrial democracy plan.

On the fifth day the play, "Smiling Through," will be given. This New York success has played in most of the larger cities of the United States and while playing in New York was counted as the success of the season.

Other features of the program will be concerts by the National Male Quartet, Zedler Symphony Quartet, John White Trumpesters, Knight MacGregor, Scotch Baritone, and the Musical Merry-makers. Lectures will be delivered by Frank H. Pearson, Frank Dixon, Dr. Fahy Hsieh, Ruth Bryan Owen and Chester M. Sanford. The sixth day Edward M. Reno, a magician, will give an entertainment especially for the children. The Junior Chautauqua will meet every morning at 10 o'clock and all children's program has been arranged.

TO ADDRESS COUNTY BANKERS.

W. Randolph Burgess, Economist of Federal Reserve Bank.

W. Randolph Burgess, economist of the Federal Reserve bank in New York city, who is recognized as an authority upon commercial and industrial subjects and also an able speaker, will address the Otsego County Bankers' association at the summer meeting at the Oneonta Country club on Saturday afternoon. The dinner is announced for 1:30 o'clock. M. C. Hemstreet of the Citizens' National is in charge of the arrangements and it is expected that there will be a large attendance.

Lutheran Ladies' Guild.

The Ladies' guild of Lutheran church held its regular monthly business meeting yesterday afternoon at Wilber park with a picnic following the business activities. Much interest was shown in all of the questions discussed and especially in the pipe organ project. A bake sale was planned for July 11. Late in the afternoon an excellent picnic lunch was enjoyed.

Elks Headquarters in Boston.

Exultant? Of Course! They're Cheering "Her Bill"

This interesting photographic study of Mrs. William C. McDonald was snapped by the cameraman just as the McDonald demonstration, at its peak, was passing the 100 ft. mark. Note the ecstatic, almost exultant, expression on her face. It was all for "her bill" and, for the first time, all things and people about were lost from vision in that moment.

MCDONALD-HOLMES WEDDINGS

Helene Holmes Thomson of Hobartville of John McDonald of Esperance.

Mr. and Mrs. James Thomson were the scene of a quiet wedding Monday evening at 8 o'clock, when their youngest daughter, Helene Holmes

Thomson, and John McDonald, of Esperance, were united in marriage by Rev. D. S. Haywood, pastor of the Hobart Presbyterian church. The Presbyterian ring service was used. The house was prettily decorated with daisies, peonies and ferns. The ceremony was witnessed by only the immediate family. The bride wore a gown of beaded grey crepe de chine and carried pink roses.

The groom is the son of George McDonald, of Esperance. Mr. and Mrs. McDonald left Tuesday morning for Esperance, where they will make their future home. Many friends extend congratulations.

The Hobart Civic Club

At the regular meeting of the Civic club held at the New Hobart on Tuesday afternoon the treasurer reported a balance of $298.15. It was voted to offer the Cemetery Association necessary funds with which to put city water in the cemetery grounds. ### In Great El Paso Endurance-Economy Run

ANOTHER IN LONG LIST OF TRIUMPHS FOR FRANKLIN AIR-COOLING

Showing the 1800-mile circuit through three states which the contesting cars followed for 12 days, beginning and ending at El Paso. The map gives no idea of the road conditions encountered, which many declared to be the worst in America. Deserts, mountains, canyons, thick forests threaded by a more trail, dry river-beds full of boulders, together with narrow, winding, rock-strewn, dusty, rutty roads, furnished every conceivable test of a car's endurance and running economy.

Competing against 18 other makes of cars entered in the longest, hardest and most important endurance-economy run staged in years, the Franklin emerged as usual with a sweeping triumph. The tour took place under the auspices of the El Paso Herald, with American Automobile Association sanction, May 17-28.

Not content with carrying off both trophies in its own class by a wide margin, the Franklin also defeated all cars in three of the four classes below it on the basis of economy.

The force of this feat is doubled by the fact that the Franklin entry was one of the two closed cars in the contest, and the only one to win.

Accurate count of gasoline consumption was kept, and penalties were imposed for repairs, stalling of motor, replenishing of water in radiator (an item affecting all cars but the air-cooled

WHAT THE FRANKLIN DID

Won both endurance and economy trophies in its class
Defeated all cars over $1300 in endurance
Defeated all cars over $700 in economy
Endurance record 42% better than nearest competitor in its class
Economy record 36% better than nearest competitor in its class
Was one of two closed cars among 19 entrants, and the only one to win
Travelled the fastest time schedule over the route

Franklin), and failure to make the indicated points on time. Each car likewise had to maintain a given average speed. This varied from 14 to 20 miles an hour, according to class.

The Franklin used on the tour was first driven to El Paso, new, from Syracuse, a distance of 2700 miles, and it is now being driven back, as quiet and trouble-free as when it started.

Another Franklin, used as a press car, also made the entire tour without difficulty or damage.

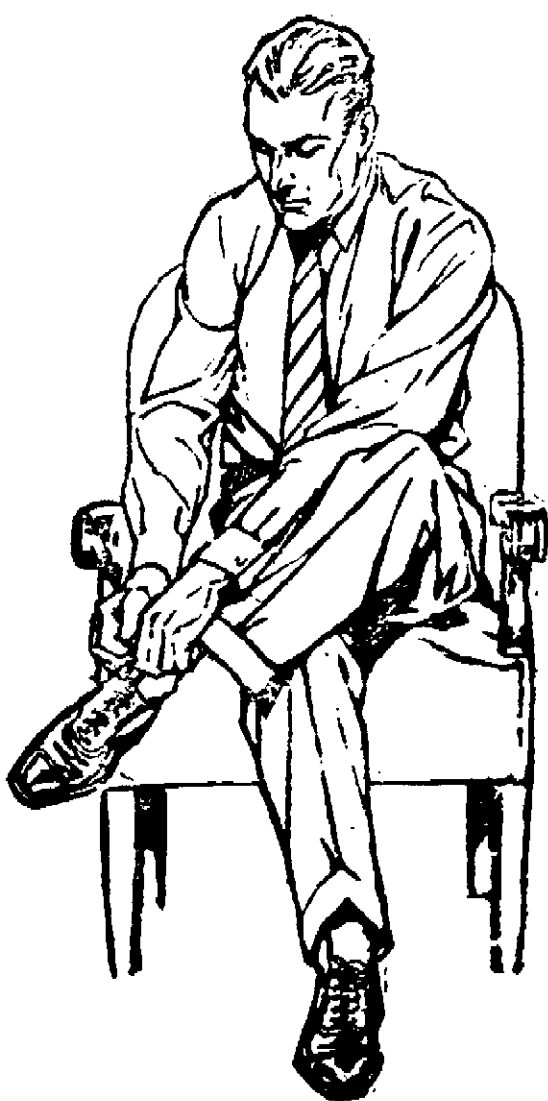

Nothing could prove more conclusively the Franklin's outstanding superiority in efficiency and stamina among its competitors.

Nothing could show so clearly its ability to take the worst roads at a faster average gait. We are ready at all times to enter tests of a similar nature with any car of any price.

Fined $25 for Being

Too Playful With Snake

Baltimore, Md.—A snake brought grief to Adam, and one of the descendants of the Garden of Eden reptile brought on a fine in police court for John Cameron, colored.

John attended a ball game on the lot where the circus had been two days before. While John was cheering the players a snake, left behind by the circus, slid between his legs.

John picked up the snake and walked over to Viola Wallace, colored, and let the coils of the reptile slide across her neck. Viola broke all records in her homeward flight.

John picked Mamie Bedford, colored, as his second victim. But Mamie didn't scare well. When John came near her with the snake she picked up a stick and beat him on the head. After treatment at Colonial hospital he was taken to the police court. Mamie was arrested, charged with assault. When Magistrate Johannsen heard the story, John was fined $25 and costs for starting the disturbance. Mamie was dismissed.

Fortunate Mortals

There are some people whose smile, the sound of whose voice, whose very presence, seems like a ray of sunshine to turn everything they touch into gold.—Lord Avebury.

Hard as Rock

Ever try to identify rocks by their shades, color, feel, taste, hardness and other marks of identification? That's something else to think about while hiking. A stone is something more than to stumble over or to throw. A cigar box divided into six, or eight sections makes a splendid case in which to put away various specimens found along the way and labeled correctly as soon as you learn their right names. Glacial lopsided pebbles, concretions, fossils in limestone, crystals and stalactites are some of the special things to look for.

Secret of Happiness

To live content with small means—to seek elegance rather than luxury, and refinement rather than fashion, to be worthy, not respectable, and wealthy, not rich—to study hard, think quietly, talk gently, act frankly, to listen to stars and birds, babes and sages, with open heart—to bear all cheerfully—do all bravely, await occasions—never hurry; in a word, to let the spiritual, hidden and unconscious, grow up through the common.—W. E. Channing.

Indolence Tires

Time, with all its celerity, moves slowly on to him whose whole employment is to watch its flight.—Johnson.

Here at Last Got a Brief Run for His Life

"Talkin' about running," said the speedy man, "about the fastest bit o' sprintin' I ever saw was in the country year before last. I've been out all day rabbit shootin', and had the most awful luck, when I spied a whoppin' great hare about two hundred yards away. Takin' a careful sight I let fly, but the instant my bullet touched him, and before it had time to penetrate his skin, that hare was off like a flash. "I never saw two such evenly matched things as that hare and my bullet. For over half a mile they sped on together, neither gainin' on the other, the better four mornin' to even in touch with the hare's skin. At the end of a mile, however, the pace began to tell on the hare and he faltered for a moment. "Twas fatal. The bullet sped on and the poor beast was bowled over. He deserved his freedom if ever an animal did. He'd have got it too, if he could have stuck out another 30 yards, for that's about as far as my rifle carries."—Exchange.

The Great Mogul

The British territory (India) is divided into six large provinces—Bengal, Bombay, Madras, the Northwest Provinces and Oudh, the Punjab, and Burma—and eight smaller ones, administered by governors, lieutenant governors, chief commissioners and agents to the governor general, the whole under the viceroy, who represents the king-emperor, and has been described as "His Majesty's Greatest Subject." These provinces include what were once the high and puissant kingdoms of the subcontinent of Bengal, the north of the Ganges, the peshwa of the Marhattas, the emperor of Delhi (more commonly known as the Great Mogul), the king of Oudh, the maharajah of the Punjab, the king of Burma, and the emperors of Sind.—From "Indian Life in Town and Country."

Cornelian "Cure"

Cornelian is often used as a charm. In China it is supposed to cure indigestion. Greeks have worn it to get rid of neuralgia and rheumatism, and it is generally regarded as one of evil's antidotes. Cornelian is plentiful around the Norfolk (Eng.) coast, but it has little commercial value.

Cave of Adullam

Tradition places the cavern of Adullam to which David fled to escape from the persecution of Saul, in the hill country of Judea, about six miles southeast of Bethlehem. It is a place of holding several thousand people. The year 1062 B. C. is given as the date of David's flight.

HITS COLUMBUS AS DISCOVERER

New Finds Strengthen Theory That He Was Not First in America.

Washington.—The recent discovery on Long Island of skeletons showing evidences of great antiquity has stimulated anew the old controversy as to who discovered America. The recent discovery is said to strengthen the case against Christopher Columbus as the real discoverer. In fact, historical science now seems to be leaning more and more toward the belief that centuries before Columbus was born America had been discovered and was fairly well known to Europeans.

The discovery at Malba, Long Island, attracted especial attention because experts in anatomy said that the skeletons unquestionably were those of white men and not of Indians. Further, it was clear to the experts that the skeletons were at least six centuries old.

The best-known story of early Norse discovery and occupation of American soil is that told in Longfellow's poem, "The Skeleton in Armor." Longfellow was familiar with the old stone tower which has stood at Newport, R. I., for so long that there is no trace of its origin. It was old when the Pilgrim fathers landed at Plymouth Rock. In 1881 a skeleton, clad in ancient armor, was unearthed near Fall River, Mass.

The armor was of a character traceable to the Norse civilization of a very early date. Longfellow connected the two relics—the tower and the armed skeleton—and wrote his fantastic ballad about them.

The ancient Icelandic and Scandinavian sagas make many references to a vast land across the western ocean which, it is contended, could not be other than the American continent. It was believed to be an island of comparatively small size. Greenland, of course, was well known and colonized centuries before the day of Columbus and the sagas seem to indicate that voyages were made down to the American mainland. This land was referred to in the old records as Vinland because of the profusion with which vines and other vegetation grew about cultivation. It will be remembered that when Sir Walter Raleigh, centuries later, made his first visit to these shores he was particularly struck by the luxuriance of the uncultivated vegetation.

Dighton Writing Rock. "It seems natural that most of the Norse relics should be found in New England, as this would be the first territory in what is now the United States, which the vikings would strike in coming down from Greenland. Ancient implements, certainly not of Indian origin, have been plowed up in New England, and in Dighton county, Mass., there has been found an inscribed rock, now called the Dighton writing rock, which bears rough lettering telling that a viking identified as Thorfinn Karlsefni, with 150 men, landed and took possession of what is now Massachusetts about the year 1007. The rock was discovered by the Puritans in 1690.

Probably the most amazing find in connection with Norse antiquities in America was that of what is known as the Kensington rune stone in 1898. It was discovered by a farmer who was engaged in grubbing up stumps on his farm near Kensington, Minn. The stone was imbedded in the roots of a tree. Its inscription has been liberally deciphered and tells how eight Goths, or Swedes, and twenty-two Norsemen journeyed to that spot where they were attacked by Indians. The implication is that, while surrounded and besieged by the savages, the vikings carved the stone in the hope that some day their people would find trace of what had become of them. The amazing fact is that the stone is clearly dated "Year 1362."

Columbus' discovery of America, it will be remembered, was in 1492, a hundred and thirty years later. That a small party of vikings, accustomed only to the sea, should have gone nearly half way across the American continent seems incredible. Undoubtedly, they sailed in small craft up the Great Lakes.

Another astonishing evidence of how widespread were the explorations of the Norse on this continent is to be found in northern Georgia. Atop a mountain there has been found a prehistoric fort, the walls of which places it far earlier than the date of the Spanish explorations. The medicine men of the Cherokee Indians are declared to have told the first English settlers that long before they appeared another race of white men had held the country and built the fort on the mountain. The mountain top is encircled by a stone wall, originally about 4 feet high and 2 feet wide. It is nearly half a mile in total length.

Even Name of Norse Origin. In addition to the old weapons found and the tablets and stone edicts, the experts declare that there are other indications which should conclusively prove that Columbus is not entitled to the credit for the discovery of the western hemisphere which he has enjoyed since 1492. For many years the common teaching has been that the name America was bestowed on the continent in honor of the great Italian navigator Amerigo Vesputi, who followed Columbus and made maps and charts and wrote records of the new world.

named after its discoverer, whose name was Ericson. A natural name, it is pointed out, would be Am-eric, of the Land of Eric. It is only necessary to slide the letter "t" from the first syllable of the word to produce the word America as it is spelled today. This is much nearer to the present word than the Italian name Amerigo. Also, it is claimed, a land would scarcely be named after the first name of a man. The last name would more likely be used. Amerigo was Vesputi's first name. Eric or Ericson was the surname of Leif Ericson.

Much more evidence has been collected by historians and antiquarians showing that tribes of Indians called this continent America or a name of similar sound before the arrival of Columbus or before any of the early Spanish or English settlers came.

All these facts necessarily have much fascination for an American. Searches for additional information still are going forward and it seems likely that further evidence will be discovered. It is quite probable that the school books will have to be changed in the face of fresh and convincing evidence that, great as Columbus was, he was not the discoverer of the western world. The existing school books, of course, long have made mention of the early Norse voyagers, but they have been treated more as uncertain and doubtful legends than as historical facts. If much more evidence accumulates, the legend theory will be displaced and the story of the viking must be accepted as the real basis of early American history.

Rubber Expedition on

Amazon Reaches Bolivia

Washington.—The government's rubber investigation expedition in South America, some members of which have returned, covered a large territory in the basins of the Amazon river and tributaries almost to the Bolivian borders in its search for sources for the development of crude rubber to meet the growing demands of American consumers. Although an enormous area in that region is adapted to rubber production as far as temperature and rainfall are concerned, soil conditions are said to be a limiting factor.

Famous London Well

After being hidden and almost forgotten for hundreds of years, the old well from which Clerkenwell takes its name seems to have been rediscovered and laid bare, London Tit-Bits states.

It was called "Clerks' well" because "the parish clerk of London in remote ages annually performed sacred plays in front of it."

What is believed to be the "Clerks' well" was discovered recently under a shop floor in Farringdon road. It was while workmen were pulling down the building that their spades revealed the well.

In the well are the remains of a leaden suction pump, by which the water, it is said, used to be conveyed to the street outside for the use of pious, nuns, clerks and ordinary folk.

Close to the well a small piece of Roman wall has been unearthed. So substantial is it that it is to be used as part of the foundations of a new building to be erected on the spot.

A Little Bran Is Good for You

If it is thoroughly mixed with a well-cooked cereal. Not one person in a hundred should eat raw bran. It is almost pure cellulose and is not digestible. All the bran you need to promote natural and healthful bowel movement is in Shredded Wheat. It is combined with the tissue-building, bone-making elements of the whole wheat grain, making it a perfect food for children and grown-ups. Two biscuits with milk make a nourishing meal.

Prevents Decay of Teeth

I often have occasion to recommend to my patients your Shredded Wheat. They furnish the roughage needed to rub down the teeth. I find they are as effective food, and one as two eaten just before going to bed will neutralize the acids of the mouth and help prevent decay of the teeth.
